INITIATION

By the Local Council Knights of Columbus a Great Success.

Many Visitors Were On Hand From Adjacent Cities and States.

Banquet in the Evening a Fitting Finale to the Day.

STATE TOWNS WELL REPRESENTED

The initiation of a class of sixty candidates by the Louisville Council, Knights of Columbus, last Sunday was a success in every particular. The initiatory exercises were held in the Scottish Rite Temple, at Sixth and Walnut streets, and began about 2 o'clock and continued all afternoon and well into the evening. After the initiatory ceremonies the new and old Knights of Columbus adjourned to the Louisville Hotel, where an elegant banquet had been prepared for them. It was a great day for the local Knights of Columbus and the taste of hospitality shown the visitors from Cincinnati, St. Louis, Lexington and other points is an evidence of the fact that when the delegates to the supreme convention meet here next summer they will be well entertained.

State Deputy Charles J. O'Connor was the highest officer at the initiation, which was conducted by a degree team of members of the Louisville council, under the guidance of Grand Knight P. M. O'Reilly. In the degree work the local knights were assisted by Dr. Thomas B. Hart, of Cincinnati, and the Cincinnati degree team, made up of Grand Knight James J. Carberry, Joseph B. Kealy, William J. Fox, James J. Maher, William J. Tanner and John J. Sullivan. In all the Cincinnati and Covington party numbered about fifty knights.

Of the class of sixty who were initiated several were well known priests and others were prominent citizens of Louisville and outlying towns in Kentucky.

Among the visiting knights from Lexington were Dan Crow, of the Lexington Herald; John M. Kelly, Thomas D. Murray, John Hanley, James J. O'Brien, Edward Houlihan, John Fitzgerald, W. J. Norton and Dr. James Shannon. F. C. Laughlin came down from Mt. Sterling and John S. Leahy from St. Louis.

On account of the length of the initiatory ceremonies it was late when the banquet began. John S. Leahy, of St. Louis, who was to have responded to the toast, "Knights of the Twentieth Century," had to catch a train. He spoke only a few minutes while the knights were discussing the menu and then made his adieu.

The Hon. Edward J. McDermott was toastmaster and presided with his customary ease and grace. He thanked the visitors for their attendance, and said that their presence gave great pleasure to their Louisville brothers. Continuing, the speaker declared that while the church was doing its duty in the maintenance of its doctrines, while the clergy were zealously performing their duties, much responsibility must rest upon the shoulders of the laymen.

Our men and women, said Mr. McDermott, do not show to the world that their religion has a practical influence on their daily lives, making them truthful, honest, high-minded and conscientious in all their dealings with their fellow-men, we can not expect others to look upon our creed with favor. An intelligent, educated, upright laity is the best proof of the regenerating power of our faith and will have the most persuasive influence upon the minds and hearts of seekers after truth. He also referred to the disfavor in which the Catholic church stood in this country in the first half of the last century, and how greatly it had risen lately in public esteem.

The speaker said that the Catholic knights and ladies of the twentieth century did not have the same duties to perform as did the knights and ladies of the Middle Ages, but though their duties and dangers were different in kind they were equally as important and often as trying to the soul. The best service we can render the church, the best way to win converts to her fold, said Mr. McDermott, is to convince our neighbors by our daily conduct that we are not only faithful to our duties at the altar, but that we are also upright in all of our dealings with others in private life. He urged the Knights of Columbus to keep their standards pure and high, to make the church everywhere the champion of education, charity, morality and liberty, the stronghold of purity and justice, the shield of the weak and the staff of the poor.

William C. Wolkling, a prominent citizen of Cincinnati, responded to the toast, "Ladies of the Twentieth Century," and handled his subject in a masterly manner. J. P. O'Meara, of Elizabethtown, was to have responded to the toast, "My Old Kentucky Home," but he was unavoidably absent. His place was ably taken by Alderman James J. Fitzgerald. The banquet closed with the singing of "America."

A new council is in process of organization in St. Ann's parish, Providence, R. I. The pastor, the Rev. Father Boone, and State Deputy Matthew J. Cummings, who are making great efforts for the establishment of this council, hope to start with 100 members or the full membership of St. Peter's Society.

The members of Louisville Council, Knights of Columbus, will go to Owensboro on Sunday, November 22, to institute a new council of the order.

John Joseph Kain Council is the name of the body to be instituted at Kirkwood, Mo., on November 22. The society is named in honor of the late Archbishop of St. Louis.

EXPIRED SUDDENLY.

Capt. John J. Connelly Falls a Victim to Heart Disease.

Capt. John J. Connelly, one of this city's oldest and bravest firemen, died suddenly Tuesday morning as a result of heart disease while being conveyed from the No. 5 engine-house to his home, 625 Thirteenth street. Capt. Connelly, with his fire company, had aided in the suppression of a fire after midnight, and while fighting the fire inhaled a great amount of smoke. After the fire was extinguished Capt. Connelly returned to the engine-house and chatted pleasantly with the firemen for an hour or more before retiring. A member of the company heard him cry out in pain and summoned Dr. W. T. Hayse, who after an examination advised Capt. Connelly to go home. This he did, but refused to allow any of the firemen to accompany him. He died in the cab while en route home.

Capt. Connelly was born in Philadelphia forty-nine years ago. He came to Louisville with his parents when quite a youth and began to make his livelihood as a stationary engineer. Later he went on the river as a steamboatman and served several years. In 1883 he was appointed a member of the Louisville fire department. A year later he attended a fire at Third and Green streets, where both his legs were broken.

After his recovery he was transferred to the No. 5 engine company, where he finally arose to be captain, which position he held at the time of his death. His wife, who was before marriage Miss Maggie Cavanaugh, is prostrated over her husband's death. He left no children. Capt. Connelly was a brother of Siegel Connelly of the police force and of Mrs. Mary Stephens.

The funeral took place from St. Patrick's church Thursday morning and was attended by members of the fire department and many city officials.

GREAT SUCCESS

Was the Euchre Given by the Catholic Knights and Ladies.

The euchre given at Phoenix Hill Park on Monday afternoon and evening under the auspices of the Catholic Knights and Ladies of America was a grand success socially and financially. A fair crowd was present in the afternoon, which increased to large proportions at night, when about 250 tables were in play. Mrs. David Welsh presided over the games and prizes and her work gave general satisfaction. She was ably assisted by Thomas Keenan, Mrs. Margaret Foley, Miss Mary Sheridan, Charles Breckel, Joseph Vetter, Dr. Ganz, Andrew Kast, Miss Mary Kast, James Coleman and others.

Quite a nice sum was realized and will be added to the funds already on hand. The local members of the Catholic Knights and Ladies feel assured now that they will have sufficient money to entertain the visiting delegates to the national convention which meets here next year.

GOOD WORK

Done by St. John's Conference of St. Vincent de Paul Society.

St. John's Conference of the St. Vincent de Paul Society celebrated the forty-seventh anniversary of its establishment on last Sunday. The pastor, the Very Rev. Father Bax, who has been its Spiritual Director since its foundation, addressed the members, reviewing the history of the society and congratulating them on the good work done by the conference.

St. John's conference is not only one of the oldest but one of the most influential of the various conferences in the city. The St. Vincent de Paul Society is made up of representative Catholic men, who look after the welfare of the poor and distressed, men who feed the hungry, harbor the harborless, visit the sick and bury the dead.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

The Hon. Thomas Paul Monaghan, of Wilmington, Del., and a brother of the late lamented Father James Monaghan, visited the city during the present week. He came to Louisville to settle up the affairs of his brother, who died in Wilmington several months ago. Father Monaghan had served in this city as assistant pastor at St. Patrick's, St. Cecilia's and St. Augustine's churches, but at the time of his death was pastor of St. Lawrence's church at Knottsville. His brother who was here this week is a member of the Delaware Legislature and is a typical Irish-American gentleman.

POPE PIUS X.

Named Two Cardinals at the First Consistory of His Reign.

Contrary to Predictions, No Red Hat For the United States.

His Holiness Complains of the Lack of Temporal Power.

CONFIRMS ARCHBISHOPS AND BISHOPS

His Holiness Pope Pius X. presided over the first secret consistory of his Pontificate last Monday, and despite the predictions of the Rome correspondents, no new American Cardinal was named. On the contrary, only two Cardinals were created—Monsignor Merry Del Val, the new Papal Secretary of State, and Monsignor Callegari, Archbishop of Padua. In addition to confirming the creation of the new Cardinals, the consistory confirmed the appointment of Archbishop Hart, of Manila; the Right Rev. Pedro Ganaloz y Estrada, as Bishop of Havana; the Right Rev. Maximilian Reynoso y Delcoral, as Titular Bishop of Nocesarea; the Right Rev. Thomas A. Hendricks, as Bishop of Cebu; the Right Rev. Manuel Orne y Vivanco, as Bishop of Pinar del Rio, Cuba, and the Right Rev. Bonaventura M. Broderick, formerly of Hartford, Conn., to be Auxiliary Bishop of Havana, as Titular Bishop of Giulianopol.

Ever since the election and coronation of Pope Pius X. the newspapers have been filled with predictions concerning the appointment of one or more American Cardinals, so that Protestants, as well as Catholics, anxiously awaited this first consistory, all striving to guess where the red hat would fall. The anxious ones were disappointed. A new Cardinal for America was not even discussed at the consistory.

At the secret consistory held on Monday only the Pope and Cardinals then in Rome were present. His Holiness wore the full Pontifical robes used only in the first secret consistory of each Pope. After the Pope had seated himself on the throne all present advanced singly and paid him homage. The master of ceremonies then called upon all those present, save the Pope and Cardinals, to leave the hall. This they did and the doors were closed. Pope Pius opened the consistory with a prayer, after which Cardinal Gregalia, Dean of the Sacred College, formally thanked the Pope in behalf of the Cardinals for having put aside his personal preferences and assuming the heavy responsibilities of governing the church.

Pope Pius in replying uttered an allocution which received not only the approbation of the Cardinals, but must of necessity meet the approval of all Christian people throughout the world. The keynote of his address was the same as in his first encyclical: "As Christ is truth, we must go toward the truth." In part the Pope, addressing the Cardinals, said:

"Knowing the duties resting on the Roman Pontiff, it is not strange if we considered ourselves unfit for the task, for as we saw the apostolic duties, we judged they could not be properly carried out with our strength, as we recognized that on rising to the Papal throne greatest study must be to give the most force to religion and to rectify errors. All this, considering our great weakness, frightened us, but as God willed to elevate us to this dignity we trust in His help to sustain us. Before all our efforts will be to retain the faith inviolate and to provide for the eternal salvation of all without saving ourselves any trouble or fatigue. For truth's sake it is necessary that in governing the church the Pontiff should appear to be free and not the subject of any power. This is not the case, and that is what we lament as being a grave injury to the church. Your precious help and advice, my precious brothers, assist me in fulfilling the duties of my most important office and I shall always ask for your counsel under grave circumstances. Thus, each of you sustaining part of the immense weight resting upon us, our services will be not only to the faithful, but to the whole world. We shall not follow any path but that of our predecessors, namely to restore all in Christ. As Christ is truth we must go toward truth."

"The Pope, in his office, can not separate the faith from politics. Therefore he, being the head and sovereign ruler of the most perfect society, namely the church, constituted among men and of men strictly composed, he certainly must wish that between him and the princes of the world and the rulers of public affairs mutual relations should exist if he wishes to provide for this society liberty for Catholics in all parts of the world. Efforts are now being made to destroy the liberty of the Catholic truth, which the church must absolutely oppose, as that is not a promotion of liberty, but corruption of liberty. However, following the Redeemer we must pity and pardon the sinners, while trying by all means to become reconciled with them. We trust to accomplish what our predecessors could not reach—that truth shall overcome everywhere the errors of injustice. We shall persist in this struggle as, if all our desires are not completely satisfied, certainly, with the help of God, we shall succeed in having the empire of truth established and consolidated in all good people and propagated to all others who are well disposed."

At the conclusion of his address the Pope named the two new Cardinals and asked: "What have you to say?" In response the Cardinals raised their caps as a sign of affirmation. The confirmation of the Archbishops and Bishops followed, and then the consistory was brought to a close.

On Thursday the first public consistory was held, at which time the red hats were conferred on Cardinals Merry del Val, Callegari, Aguti, Tagliano and Katschthaler. The ceremonies were very elaborate.

OFFICIAL VISIT

Paid by Grand President Kelly and Staff to Satolli Council.

Excellent Advice Given Members of the Young Men's Institute.

The Advantages of the Order Set Before the Young Men.

GOOD RESULTS WILL FOLLOW

The official visit of Grand President James B. Kelly to Satolli Council, Y. M. I., called forth a large attendance Monday night. The routine business of the council was dispatched in short order and the meeting was turned into a social session, with William O'Connor presiding.

Grand President Kelly was received with great applause. He was accompanied by Grand Secretary George J. Lantz, Chairman of the Board of Grand Directors Joseph Piazza, Deputy-at-Large Harry Colgan, Council Deputies Edward Bosler and Vincent B. Smith, Clarence H. Zook and several members of the council from St. Meinrad's, Indiana. Mr. O'Connor welcomed the grand officers in a few words, after which Grand President Kelly addressed the council. He said:

"It is indeed a great pleasure to make my first official visit to No. 193, a council that has always reflected credit upon the order, and that has largely contributed by the talents and genius of her members in placing the Young Men's Institute in the forefront of Catholic societies in the country. The history of the Presidents of Satolli Council since its institution would be a history of gentlemen of the highest character—intelligent, able and progressive—and as well as I can remember, none of them have ever left the ranks of the Young Men's Institute. What I say regarding the chief officers of your council can be applied to their colleagues, and last, but not least, the administration of my predecessor as Grand President will place the name of your fellow-member, Brother William A. Perry, upon the escutcheon of the Young Men's Institute history in such a manner as to make it a lasting monument to the Kentucky jurisdiction."

"The Grand President is the servant and not the master, and any officer who does not understand this relation and act accordingly can not properly perform his functions and is not entitled to the respect and confidence of the members. We enjoy a material well-being exceeding that of any former period in our existence, and it shall be my aim to maintain this condition of affairs by the fullest consultation touching policies and harmony of action in pursuance of a sentiment expressed by the members. Without your counsel and support I shall utterly fail as your leader and bring severe criticism on those who by their votes elected me. It is well that our progress should be gradual, and our success based upon a judicious approval of its principles after intelligent study, rather than upon an enthusiasm that will cool because unsupported by a just appreciation of what the Young Men's Institute is intended to accomplish. We have been given special and peculiar privileges, but with them come grave responsibilities. We can not escape the burden laid upon us when we took the obligation of membership, and our determination should result in the increase of zeal to bring all those who profess our religion into our ranks, that we might strengthen their faith and teach all the highest ideal of Catholic citizenship. Every good work you undertake in this council will not fail to benefit you and your brethren in the faith. But this influence can be widened through the combined efforts of all your members. Map out your plan of operation, apportion the work among the members, then by union and uniformity of action good results are sure to be obtained."

"I do not make it a rule to speak disparagingly of other societies, for all are doing some good work, but I will say that the Young Men's Institute is better adapted for the advancement of the young man and the employment of his talents than any other Catholic lay organization. There are a number of young men just entering upon life with good minds but deficient education, who from this cause are kept back and labor under great difficulties. Our club houses, libraries and meetings of the councils afford a school where an education can be acquired that will materially assist them and secure promotion in their chosen callings. For if we cease to grow, we begin to die. Let Satolli Council press forward in this good work, and may the success of the present administration exceed that of any former period."

Grand Secretary George Lantz talked along similar lines and expressed his appreciation of the welcome given the grand officers by Satolli's members. Deputy Vincent B. Smith also spoke encouragingly and promised to aid Satolli in all her undertakings by word and deed. Deputy Edward Bosler, one of Trinity's best workers, followed and spoke in a similar spirit and made a few suggestions that will prove of advantage to Satolli in the effort being made to reach the young men of the central part of the city.

William J. O'Sullivan responded to the remarks of the grand officers. His address was full of rich humor and good fellowship. It was received with tumultuous applause by members of Satolli and the distinguished visitors. As there was no other business to transact the meeting adjourned.

The new ritual has been given to the printer and will be soon ready for issue.

SAD SUMMONS

That Ends All Came to Daniel P. White, the Tobacco Man.

Daniel P. White, a respected citizen of Louisville, died at his home, 1814 First street, early Monday morning. Mr. White had suffered from a cancer of the abdomen during the past ten months, but died fortified by the holy sacraments of the church and with perfect Christian resignation. He leaves a wife, who was Miss Katie Glenn before her marriage, and three sons.

The deceased was born in Green county, this State, fifty-two years ago. He was the son of Dr. D. P. White, a prominent physician of that section. Thirty-five years ago Mr. White removed to Louisville and entered the tobacco business as a member of the firm of Glover, White & Co., then one of Louisville's largest wholesale tobacco warehouses. When this firm retired from business Mr. White connected himself with the Green River Tobacco Company, where he became the moving spirit, amassed a fortune, and retired several years ago.

The deceased was a brother of Dr. William P. White, who formerly was head of the Health Department of Louisville, and of R. A. White, of Green county. Mr. White was a member of St. Louis Bertrand's church, where the funeral services over his remains were held on Wednesday morning. The pall-bearers were: Active—Messrs. Louis Seelbach, Thomas F. Wilson, E. H. Hall, W. O. Head, F. W. Bonnie and G. R. Hunt, Jr. Honorary—Boyd Winchester, John M. Atherton, John G. Roach, J. L. Adams and H. Q. Grinter.

Father Heagan is an able and eloquent pulpit orator, and during his stay in Louisville made a lasting and favorable impression among the people of St. Louis Bertrand's congregation. While his friends here are sorry to see him leave they rejoice that he has been given a promotion.

Father Heagan in his new charge succeeds the Very Rev. Father Theunte, O. P., who goes to New York as Prior of St. Vincent Ferrar's convent, to succeed the Very Rev. Father Logan, O. P., who is now enjoying a vacation in the West. The Very Rev. Father Raymond Volz, O. P., Prior of St. Louis Bertrand convent, left Monday night for the East. His is a business trip and will be gone about two weeks. During his absence Father Martin will act as Prior at the Dominican convent.

BEFORE ADVENT

The Catholic Woman's Club Will Give a Big Euchre.

The Catholic Women's Club has arranged to give a euchre on the afternoon and evening of Friday, November 27. This euchre will be held in the club rooms on Walnut street, between Third and Fourth. The afternoon games will be played from 2 till 5 o'clock, and the evening games from 8 till 10 o'clock. A special invitation is extended gentlemen, as it will be the last until after Advent.

The class in physical culture, under the direction of Miss McNab, is making favorable progress. The first class of fifty is filled and a second class is being organized. These classes in physical culture are open to married women as well as unmarried young ladies, and great interest is being taken by those who are in the first class.

RAPIDLY IMPROVING.

The Rev. Father John H. Cushing, of Denver, who has been ill at St. Anthony's Hospital, is rapidly improving, and as soon as he is able to travel, which will be in about two weeks, he will leave for Washington. Father Cushing has been called to the national capital by the Right Rev. Monsignor Falconio, the Apostolic Delegate, who will assign him to an important post.

GRAND EUCHRE

To Be Given Under the Auspices of the Federation on November 19.

Committee On Arrangements Has Made Full Reports on Progress.

Prizes Will Be the Handsomest Ever Awarded at Local Euchre.

A LARGE CROWD IS EXPECTED

The Jefferson County Federation of Catholic Societies met in regular session at Hibernian Hall on Friday night of last week. The principal subject under discussion was the euchre to be given under the auspices of the Federation at Liederkranz Hall on Thursday, November 19. Dr. Joseph W. Fowler, the President of the Federation and a newly elected Alderman, was given an ovation when he appeared. John J. Barry, Secretary of the Euchre Committee, reported progress for his committee. His report elicited a general and lengthy discussion, showing that the delegates to the Federation were very much interested in the forthcoming euchre.

In his report Secretary Barry stated that the euchre will be held only in the evening. The games will be called at 8:15 o'clock. Ample accommodations in the way of chairs, tables, etc., have been provided. If the crowd is too large for the second floor, overflow games will be started on the lower floor. Incidentally Mr. Barry reported that the Euchre Committee met on October 14, with Dr. Frank Clark presiding. Mr. Barry was elected Secretary and Patrick T. Sullivan Treasurer. Dr. Clark, John J. Barry and E. J. Aud were made a sub-committee on general arrangements. The following sub-committees were also chosen:

Cards and Pitches—Dr. Alphonse R. Bizot, Miss Lula Schwaniger and Miss Mamie Kiley.

Prizes—Dr. Ben Lammers, Mrs. M. Hoban, Miss Fackler, Miss Lula Schwaniger and Dr. A. R. Bizot.

In order to facilitate the sale of tickets it was agreed that any person selling ten tickets should be given one free. It was likewise agreed that each society be allotted twenty tickets for one delegate and ten for each additional delegate.

Mr. Barry's report showed that the following persons and societies had donated prizes: John J. Crotty, William T. Meehan, Miss Mayme Kiley, Trinity Council, Y. M. I., Ladies' Auxiliary to Trinity Council, Division 3, A. O. H., the Catholic Club, Branch 4, Catholic Knights and Ladies of America, and the Wybrant studio.

The other societies affiliated with the Federation which will in all probability donate prizes are: Satolli and Mackin Councils, Y. M. I.; Divisions 1, 2 and 4, A. O. H.; Catholic Knights of America, Branches 4, 14, 21, 24, 642 and 45, and the Catholic Knights and Ladies of America, Branches 2, 5, 25, 73 and 96. Seven hundred and twenty tickets had been distributed previous to Friday night's meeting, and at that time 150 additional tickets were given to delegates.

It was unanimously decided that prizes will be awarded to persons winning the highest number of games as far as they go. This, it is thought, will give all a better chance to win prizes.

Any person or society desiring to give prizes can give them to any member of the Prize Committee named above or, preferably, can send them to the residence of Miss Lula Schwaniger, a member of the committee, at 607 West Chestnut street, which is most convenient to the Liederkranz Hall. The prizes are the handsomest and costliest ever offered at a local euchre and will be well worth the winning. The tickets of admission are only twenty-five cents.

There are so many societies affiliated with the Federation that the success of the euchre seems to be a foregone conclusion.

MACKIN'S MEETING.

Mackin Council, Y. M. I., held a spirited meeting Tuesday night. However, the greater part of the matter discussed concerned only private affairs of the council. Grand President Kelly will make an official visit to Mackin next Tuesday evening and all the members are urged to be present to welcome him and the other officers. The Lecture Committee reported progress. All present were requested to work for the success of the pay euchre which will be given at Mackin Club House on Monday, November 23.

IMPROVE THE PARKS.

Louisville has a splendid park system and beautiful public parks. That is they are nice to look at, but there is still room for improvement. "Keep off the Grass" signs are encountered at every turn, and places originally intended for public amusement, the health resorts of the poor, become things to be enjoyed only with the eyes.

Now this can be remedied. It would cost very little money to have parts of each of the parks set aside for ball grounds, just as the tennis courts have been arranged in Cherokee Park. It would also prove beneficial to old and young to establish out-door gymnasiums in the parks, where children and grown people could run, jump, exercise on horizontal and parallel bars, etc. The benefit to health of mind and body would offset the expenditure of money. These things have been tried in the East and have never failed to bring about good results. Our public parks are too much like graveyards. Why in some of them the officious guards will not allow a person to play a mouth-harp. Even humming birds are warned to keep away from the flowers. If the Park Commissioners will only set aside tracts of land in each of the parks for public playgrounds the people will rise up and call them blessed.

PASSING OF COMBES.

The Figaro, a leading journal of Paris, is authority for the statement that M. Combes, the French Premier, has determined to retire from office; but, as he is unwilling to compromise the passage of the budget, he will not retire before the Christmas holidays unless forced out by an adverse vote of the majority.

If it be true that Premier Combes contemplates retiring, and the report has the earmarks of authenticity, it will be a cause for rejoicing among Catholics the world over. M. Combes was not only largely responsible for the passage of the association laws in France, but he had everything to do with enforcing them in a brutal and unwarranted manner. Through his malignant efforts the Jesuits, the Trappists, the Oblates and the various other orders of priests and nuns were not only dispossessed of their property and robbed of their belongings, but the children and youths of France were robbed of religious education. Learned men and women of France have scattered themselves all over the world, establishing schools and monasteries. France's loss has been the gain of other countries. The French people have begun to realize the calamity that Premier Combes has brought upon them, and should he not resign it will be only a question of a few years until he will be forced into retirement. Combes will go down in history as one of the worst French Premiers.

IMMIGRANTS POURING IN.

There are some people who claim to believe that fewer immigrants are coming to the United States each year. We would refer these people to the statements of the United States Commissioner General of Immigration, whose last annual report shows that 814,000 immigrants came to the United States this year. In other words, this is a record breaking year for immigration, as it exceeds the number that arrived in 1882, when 789,000 came over. Of the total number this year Austria sent more than 25 per cent; though among them twenty-seven different races were represented. Germany sent 71,000 and Ireland about half that number, while Italy's quota was 230,000. It is estimated that 450,000 of the new comers are Catholics. This ought to show the need for more Catholic churches, priests, schools and teachers. It also shows that despite the anti-emigration movement in Ireland the people are still anxious to seek their fortunes in the "Land of the free and the home of the brave."

PRAISE SEEKERS.

The Rev. Father Cronin, the esteemed editor of the Catholic Union and Times, of Buffalo, says: "As a rule the most persistent praise-seekers from the Union and Times are the very persons who never do anything for it. That is our experience, at least, and we dare say our esteemed contemporaries all along the line could tell a similar tale."

The Kentucky Irish American indorses every word of that paragraph. The Hon. John Redmond, leader of the Irish Party in Parliament, denies emphatically that he will resign the leadership and join William O'Brien in retirement. He maintains that the Irish party is still united. On the other hand Mr. O'Brien, who has announced his resignation, declines to go into explanations save to say that he wishes to leave his enemies free scope to carry their opposition to his policy. Add to this the expression of the President of the Cork branch of the United Irish League, who says that the National cause is tottering to ruin in the South of Ireland. Verily these things are to be regretted.

And now it is ex-Senator Lindsay who, from his new home in New York, tells us that Grover Cleveland is the only man in the United States who can lead the Democrats to a national victory. It used to be John G. Carlisle who stood afar off and told us what to do. Transplanted Kentuckians are wont to dictate to the friends they leave behind, but Kentucky Democrats do not believe Grover Cleveland is the proper man to nominate. America will not stand for a third-term President. The example set by Washington is good enough for all.

Not long ago the Kentucky Irish American pleaded with Irish leaders both at home and abroad to lay aside their personal differences in their efforts to gain a better condition of affairs in Ireland. It seems, however, that a number of the leaders have disagreed again and over matters of detail. This is no time to quarrel or quibble. It not only helps but it delights the enemy. Let us hope the breach will be healed.

The Irish Standard, of Minneapolis, informs us that 90 per cent. of the men who piloted Tammany to victory in New York were of Irish birth or parentage. Well, the Irish and Irish-Americans in this city and State also had a big hand in helping the Democrats to victory this time, and the fact should not be forgotten.

In the resignation of the Hon. William O'Brien the Irish Nationalist party in Parliament has lost one of its ablest advocates, a man who has sacrificed health, fortune and personal ambition for his country. His retirement will be generally regretted.

SUDDEN DEATH

Visited Miss Mary J. Smith, a Popular Public School Principal.

Miss Mary J. Smith, Principal of the Duncan-street school, died suddenly at her home, 2011 Bank street, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The news of her death shocked a wide circle of her friends all over the city.

Miss Smith attended to her duties at school on Thursday and was apparently in the best of health until 10 o'clock that night, when she suddenly complained of feeling ill. Physicians were hurriedly summoned but despite all that medical science could do she sank slowly to the end.

Deceased was the daughter of the late Edward and Catherine Smith, well known Irish-Americans. She is survived by four brothers and three sisters. The sisters are Miss Annie Smith and Mrs. L. H. Straub, of Louisville, and Mrs. Karin James, of Floyd's Knob, Ind. The brothers are James, Cornelius, Frank and Emmet. Miss Smith had been teaching in the public schools for twenty years past and during the last six years had been Principal of the Duncan-street school. Her funeral will take place from St. Patrick's church on Monday morning.

AWFUL WRECK

Brought Death in Fearful Form to Six Railroad Men On Thursday.

As the result of a wreck on the Knoxville division of the Louisville & Nashville railroad Thursday morning six men met a sudden and awful death, while another was so badly injured that his death is expected at any time. Those who were killed were Engineers Martin Cannon, Moorman Graves and Edward Sturgis and Firemen William Lyden, John Reynolds and John Leach. The seriously injured man is R. E. Hume, a brakeman, whose home is at Lebanon Junction.

Four of those who were killed were married. Only one body was recovered, that of William Lyden. It was brought to Louisville and taken to the home of Francis Lynch, 1212 Seventh street, from which place the funeral took place. Mr. Lyden was a native of Ireland and had been in the United States only a short time. Near the wreck was found his pocketbook containing a life insurance policy for $1,000. His father, Patrick Lyden, who lives in Ireland, is named as beneficiary.

Martin Cannon was born and raised in Louisville, but has lived at Lebanon Junction about eighteen months. Mr. Sturgis also formerly lived in Louisville. All were known railroad men and were highly respected.

When the wreck occurred the surrounding country was covered by an impenetrable fog. This, with the miscarriage of telegraph orders, caused two heavily laden freight trains to meet on a fill. Three locomotives carrying engineers and firemen plunged down the embankment. A dozen freight cars loaded with pig iron and dynamite fell on top of them. The remains of five of the unfortunate victims were incinerated.

HINTS ON STYLE.

Quills of every sort and condition are shown in the millinery shops and some of the most attractive are excessively broad and plaited in dull colors.

Metal enamel jeweled hat ornaments are handsomer than ever and the high crowns have called for long slim buckles through which may be slipped silk, satin or velvet folds encircling the crown. Tiny ostrich tips are sometimes clustered around.

The flare in a plain skirt must be retained by circular or gored cutting, but in trimming skirts a skillful handling of trimming will give the desired effect. The shaped flounce, for example, has by no means been laid aside. It has merely disappeared and masquerades under other guise.

The straight full skirt finished with deep Paquin tucks at the bottom is considered one of the best of the season's models for woollens and the heavier silks and satins.

The skirt, whatever its model, save in the case of the trotting costume and the formal evening frock, must be round; that is, it must be on the floor two or three inches at front and sides and slightly more at the back, but must have no trail. Bonnets, with and without strings, are to have a chance for their life, but just how far they will succeed remains to be seen. The bonnet command for last spring's drawing room in England started the rolling and Paris took up the idea, but the fashion is still experimental.

The high crown comes as a relief from the plateau, but it is by no means becoming to every one and must be chosen cautiously. The cavalier hat with high crown, broad brim and sweeping plumes is a most picturesque creation and has many modifications. The brim is rolled, turned up sharply, lifted slightly, left to droop, according to the need of the wearer or the whim of the milliner, and there are innumerable variations in the adjustment of the plumes.

One thing is sure, ostrich feathers are the most popular feature of the winter millinery and appear not only upon the picture hats, but also upon the small hats and turbans.

THE GOOD WOMAN.

The good woman, who is a good wife and a good mother, is a blessing to a home. Her relatives often do not realize her worth until she is gone. They see her spend herself unselfishly, working hard the day long at her household affairs, and often late into the night. Her tongue slanders no one and she envies none. She hears stories from her neighbors—she can't help hearing them—but she is never the medium through which they go further. She violates no confidences. She is a power, an influence for virtue, sobriety, submission to the will of God, charity and peace. Her children derive strength from her and her husband courage in his work. Neighbors come to her for wise counsel. She is frequently at the sick bed of some friend and often is found comforting the dying. She makes us feel that God lives through our friends die around us. Usually she is not appreciated until she dies. But some day her children will rise up and bless her and all who knew her will speak her praise.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

A new temperance hall has been dedicated by Father O'Flynn, in Duogh, County Kerry.

Tenants are meeting in Ireland and taking steps looking toward the purchase of their holdings.

The tenants on the extensive property of P. R. Pigott, at Ballinaha, are preparing to purchase their holdings.

John Donovan, a former harbor commissioner at Cork and a patriot and popular Irishman, died a few days ago.

The Rev. Father James Gallagher, Catholic curate, has left Monaghan parish to make his home in Australia.

Irish whiskey is gaining its last ascendancy with the London public, while the Scotch article is as surely declining.

Arnold Forster, the Union candidate for Parliament from West Belfast, defeated John Dempsey, the Nationalist by 241 votes.

Miss Anna Molony, second daughter of Patrick Moloney, of Leeds, England, has made her final vows at Mallow as a Sister of Mercy.

John Flynn, of Cork, a well known Magistrate, died at his home recently. The deceased was well known and his death is deeply regretted.

Mrs. Kate Desmond, widow of Daniel Desmond, formerly of Brodale House, Douglas, and a lady of wide acquaintance, died recently in Cork.

At the last fortnightly meeting of the Cashel Rural District Council a resolution was adopted respectfully but firmly demanding the release of Col. Lynch.

The tenants on the Kingston estate, near Mitchelstown, met and delegated the Very Rev. Canon Rice to open negotiations for the purchase of their holdings.

The Feis recently held in the City Hall at Waterford was a fresh triumph for the Gaelic League. The singing and dancing of the children was especially praiseworthy.

John Monroe, accused of having stabbed and killed John Higgins, of Shrule, County Mayo, was given an examining trial at Kilmaine, and held to answer on the charge of murder.

Three laborers, Messrs. Brophy, Flynn and McBrien, were suffocated by the bursting of a grain elevator at the Tullamore distillery. All of them were dead when extricated from the grain.

The Knight of Glin has disappointed many of his tenants by refusing to restore those who were recently evicted. In consequence the present tenants refuse to negotiate for the purchase of their respective holdings.

John H. Halse, General Secretary of the Presbyterian Association in Dublin, while attending a bazaar in that city, was accidentally shot and killed while standing too close to a target in the shooting gallery. The dead man leaves a wife and three children.

Richard G. O'Callaghan, a wealthy resident of Dublin, was found guilty of causing the death of Richard Brady, a thirteen-year-old boy. It seems that O'Callaghan, while in his motor car ran down and killed Brady, who was on a bicycle. O'Callaghan gets off with three months' imprisonment.

The Rev. Father Thomas Murray, Catholic curate of Douglas, is dead at the age of thirty-seven. For several years he was curate in the parish of Sts. Peter and Paul, and he also served as Chaplain to the Little Sisters of the Poor at Montemotte. Father Murray was held in love and esteem by the people of Douglas.

Patrick and John O'Brien, father and son; Michael O'Donoghue and John Murphy, all fishermen of the vicinity of Cahircivilla, had a narrow escape from drowning during a recent storm. Their yawl was sunk by the heavy seas and the four occupants of the boat were rescued by difficulty by other fishermen who heard their cries for aid.

The Royal Humane Society have recently awarded bronze medals to the following people in Ireland: Peter McCormack, Dublin, for the rescue of John Russell, who fell into the Liffey; R. M. Toppin, the thirteen-year-old Limerick boy, for his rescue of an older boy who fell into a creek in the County Clare; William J. Halpin, of Limerick, who rescued a woman from death in the river at Kilkree; James P. Barry, a Magistrate, who saved the life of Joseph O'Connor at Kilkree; W. Membership of Division 4 Shows a Favorable Increase.

Division 4, Ancient Order of Hibernians, met in regular session Wednesday night with a good attendance and President Hennessy in the chair. The Visiting Committee reported that Martin McNally had entirely recovered and that James Wolfe was rapidly improving after a severe spell of typhoid fever. The following new members were proposed: John O'Connor, John Schnell, Frank McDonogh, Michael Wolfe, John O'Neill and Michael Murphy.

President Hennessy announced that an initiation would be held at the next meeting and urged the members to bring the candidates who have been elected recently so that they might receive the degrees. He announced that Division 4 now had 216 members in good standing, and that it was the general desire to increase the membership to 250 before the new year.

EXCELLENT MUSIC.

Lovers of good music will have a chance to regale themselves at St. Patrick's church on Sunday, November 22. Choirmaster James Perry has arranged an excellent programme and the regular choir will be assisted by Miss Fannie Tompkins, a talented young violinist and niece of Prof. Perry, and by Prof. Richhorn, the cornetist. Haydn's First Mass will be rendered.

MISS MCCARTHY'S VISIT.

A number of Hibernians and other Irish-American gentlemen met Thursday night to give further consideration to the proposition to invite Miss Maud McCarthy, the talented young Irish violinist, to give at least one concert in this city. A definite plan of action has been agreed upon at least for the preliminaries. Miss McCarthy will probably reach Louisville during the last week in January. It is now more than probable that the Ancient Order of Hibernians will take up the matter and rent the Auditorium for the concert. The intention seems to be to devote the funds that accrue from this concert to St. Thomas' Orphan Asylum for boys. Whenever the proposed concert has been mentioned it has been received with enthusiasm.

THE CECILIAN

The Perfect Piano Player as an Educator.

Not knowing how to play a piano generally restricts one from having music in the home, no matter how much it is enjoyed. There is no need of being without music in the home, when there is a chance to get an instrument like The Cecilian. It is built on mechanical lines, but it is human in playing the Piano; you press a button here, move a lever there, and you obtain music fit for the gods. Here is what the eminent English musician, Dr. Manns, says about the Cecilian: "I have never heard a machine produce music like that. It expressed all the delicate touches of the skilled musician, and the quality of tone was beautiful. Its marvellously perfect technique and great rhythmic accuracy was astounding."

CECILIAN LIBRARY—We have one of the largest libraries in the South, which Cecilian customers have access to. Come in and let us show you the points of superiority the Cecilian has over other piano players.

LEADERS

In the Popularity Contest Have Increased Their Number of Votes.Dan McKenna Is Still Setting
the Pace For Married Men.Lieut. Tom Fitzgibbons Maintains His Standing in

THE LADIES HAVE A NEW ENTRY

The votes in the Kentucky Irish American's World's Fair contest continue to roll in, although no material change has been made in the standing of the leaders during the past two weeks. Thus, while Lieut. Fitzgibbons, who leads the single men, has increased the number of his votes to 2,950, Frank McDonogh, the second man in the race, has increased his vote to 1,519. Likewise Dan McKenna, who led the married men two weeks ago, has increased his vote to 1,512, while John H. Hennessey runs his vote up to 1,400. In the single ladies' contest there has been no change among the leaders, but a new entry appears in the person of Miss Mary Foley, County President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H. Miss Foley now has 250 votes and her friends in various parts of the city are working hard in her interest. From present indications she will soon become an important factor in the contest. Miss Katie Henley, who was one of the prominent candidates, has withdrawn and is working for another young lady. Miss Henley will probably go to St. Louis as the representative of one of the local Catholic societies.

Do not forget the proposition. The Kentucky Irish American proposes to send to the St. Louis World's Fair the most popular single lady and the most popular single gentleman. This means free railroad transportation and a week at the Lindell Hotel, one of St. Louis' best hostels.

As stated before, the test of popularity is to be the greatest number of ballots received through the Kentucky Irish American. These ballots are printed each week. Cut them out and send them in for your friends. With each yearly subscription paid in you are allowed fifty votes. This applies to old subscribers who are in arrears as well as to new subscribers. The race is open to all irrespective of nationality or creed. Both married and single people have a chance to win.

The count of the ballots last Thursday night showed the vote as follows:

HAPPY UNION.

John F. Hans and Miss Eva Cogswell were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at St. Mary's church at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the Very Rev. Father Westernman officiating. The attendants were Misses Anna Cogswell and Lillian Bruker and Charles Hans and Harry Orrel. The bride is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. L. Steiner, of 1047 West Market street. Mr. Hans is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hans, of 2403 Brook street, and is an employee of D. H. Baldwin & Co. He is regarded as a promising young business man. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hans were tendered a reception at the bride's home. The happy young couple left for Cincinnati at 2:30 o'clock Thursday morning. They will return tomorrow and will make their home at 2403 Brook street. Their many friends wish them years of unalloyed bliss.

TRINITY'S MINSTRELS.

Trinity Council, Y. M. I., will give a minstrel performance at Trinity Hall, 718 East Gray street, on Sunday evening, November 22, and again on Wednesday, the eve of Thanksgiving. Among the vocalists who will take part are Frank Ackerman, Thomas J. Garvey, William H. Kramer, Sylvester Grove, T. F. Burke and Andy Jones. Joseph Crush will give an exhibition of club swinging and Parsons, Burke and Clines will appear in their original sketch, "The New Boy." John C. Rieger will give one of his attractive recitations, and the Aeolian Glee Club will entertain with songs and jests. The entertainment will conclude with the laughable comedy, "Joe Simpson's Double."

HOPKINS.

Crowded houses greeted the performers at Hopkins' Theater every afternoon and evening during the present week. The artists were all stars in the vaudeville line, and the Kaufman troupe of cyclists proved such an attraction that they have been re-engaged for next week. The management also offers for next week a galaxy of America's greatest vaudeville stars—the Nichol Sisters in their sketch, "Kentucky Belles;" Fred V. Bowers, minstrel and vocalist, the Rio Brothers, in sensational athletic features; Genero and Theol, contortionists; Miller and Kresko, high class German comedians, and the biograph.

BUCKINGHAM.

The Buckingham Theater offers its patrons an unusually strong attraction next week, when "The Brigadiers" will hold the boards. "The Brigadiers" is described as a bright and up-to-date entertainment, sparkling with comedy and a dazzling array of brilliant costumes and handsome scenery. In addition to the two burlesques competent vaudeville artists will fill out the olio.

MACAULEY'S.

"A Chinese Honeymoon," one of New York's comic opera successes, will be the attraction at Macauley's Theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, with a matinee on Wednesday. Louis James and Frederick Ward in "Alexander the Great" will be the attraction during the last half of the week, with a Saturday matinee.

MASONIC THEATER.

Rose Coghlan will appear as the star in "The Greatest Thing in the World" at the New Masonic Theater next week.

ROSE COGHLAN.

Rose Coghlan is too well known to need an introduction to theater-goers. In her new play Miss Coghlan has achieved success in the East.

BISHOP MESSMER

Will Address Catholics of Milwaukee on Federation.

The fact that the Right Rev. Bishop Messmer, of Green Bay, Wis., is to lecture at Milwaukee on December 6 has awakened great interest in Federation circles in the Northwest. Bishop Messmer is an earnest advocate of the Federation movement and is held in high esteem by all classes in the Northwest. The fact that he is to lecture on Catholic federation has induced the various societies to arrange a suitable entertainment for him. During the evening a chorus of 200 voices will render appropriate musical selections.

RECENT DEATHS.

Mrs. Mary J. Schoeneman, the beloved wife of Fred Schoeneman, aged twenty-two years, died at the family residence, 840 East Madison street, on Sunday morning. The deceased was before her marriage Miss Mary Ratterman. Her death is greatly regretted by a large circle of friends. The funeral took place from St. Martin's church on Tuesday morning.

Joseph Oswald, twenty-six years old, died at his home, 1229 Goss avenue, on Wednesday morning. His death was indirectly due to a stab wound inflicted ten years ago. The deceased leaves a wife and two children. At the time of his death he was an employee of the Kentucky Wagon Works and was well known and highly respected. The funeral took place from St. Vincent de Paul's church on Friday morning.

The many friends of John Bitt, the well known contractor, sympathize with him in the sudden and unfortunate death of his little daughter, which occurred last Sunday. On Saturday little Mary Bitt, with a number of other children, was playing about a bonfire of dried leaves near her home on DeBarre avenue, when her clothing suddenly caught fire. Her little companions ran for aid and their screams attracted a number of citizens, who succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not before the little one had been so terribly burned that her death resulted the next day. Her funeral took place from the family residence on Tuesday morning. The remains were interred in St. Michael's cemetery.

RECEIVED BAD NEWS.

Robert J. Foster, the well known electrician at 1408 West Market street, received word Thursday that his brother, Michael Foster, a photographer, had died in Dublin, Ireland. Mr. Foster and his wife immediately began to settle up their affairs here and will leave for Ireland as soon as possible. Mr. Foster's father is still living and has urged them to join him. Their friends in Louisville, while sympathizing with them in the death of their brother, wish them a safe voyage and happiness in their new home.

APPRECIATION

Of Good Work Done Shown by Renomination of Central
Officers.St. Joseph's Orphans' Society
Has Made Great Gains
During Year.Visits to Branches of the Society Have Proven Very Beneficial.

ELECTION WILL BE HELD NEXT MONTH

The time is growing near when the members of St. Joseph's Orphan Society hold their annual election. To that end a meeting was held in St. Boniface's school hall last Sunday afternoon when nominations were made. So well have the present officers served during the present year that a majority of the members desired to re-elect them all. As it is President Frank A. Geher, Vice President Henry Boser, Jr., and Recording Secretary Bernard J. Geher were nominated to succeed themselves. Joseph L. Steurle, the Financial Secretary, would have been re-elected but for the fact that he is ineligible to succeed himself under the constitution. Henry H. Frenke and August C. Reverman were placed in nomination for Financial Secretary. Treasurer Matt Poschinger would have been nominated to succeed himself by acclamation, but he insisted on having opposition. Therefore Mr. Poschinger and Joseph Hubbuch, Sr., were placed in nomination for Treasurer.

The reports showed that St. Joseph's Orphans' Society has grown from 729 to 935 members during the past year and the central officers hope to increase the membership to 1,000 before January 1. One reason for the increase is that the central officers have visited each of the ten branches and urged the members to make greater efforts to induce others to join. At present there are 127 orphans being cared for by the Ursuline Sisters at St. Joseph's Asylum.

There are now ten branches of St. Joseph's Orphans' Society, one at each of the German Catholic churches in the city and county. They are St. Anthony's, St. Peter's, St. Mary's, St. Boniface's, St. Martin's, St. Joseph's, St. Vincent de Paul's, all in Louisville, and St. Francis', St. Helena's and Holy Trinity in the county of Jefferson. Each of the above branches will meet tomorrow and nominate their respective officers. The election will be held by the various branches on Sunday, December 20. The central officers will meet at St. Boniface's school hall that afternoon and sit as a returning board.

The central officers will attend the meeting of St. Boniface's branch tomorrow afternoon and urge the members to add to their numerical strength.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

The society event of the season in New Albany was a surprise party tendered John J. Richards at the home of his parents, corner Union and Prospect streets. The event was given in honor of Mr. Richards' birthday and he played the host to perfection. Many young people of Louisville joined with the New Albany guests in celebrating the occasion. Among the New Albany guests present were Misses Mary Glanville, Grace Hurley, Anna Richards, Clyde Richards, Gertrude Hurley, Ella Murphy, Maggie Houghton, Mary Richards, Francis Richards and Lillian Richards and Messrs. John J. Richards, Will C. Calhoun, Ralph McDaniels, Otto Ringenberger, Will Preiberger, Urban Horn, William Tighe, Walter Coomes, Frank Richards and Master Maurice Richards. The Louisville guests were Misses Mabel and Edna Quinlan, Ida Ricketts, Alice Flynn, Henrietta Gatterdam, and Messrs. Charles Marshall, Joseph Gatterdam, Patrick Ross, Arthur Quinlan and Martin Cradick. Everybody enjoyed a pleasant evening and departed wishing their host many happy returns of the day.
